

ABOUT THE PLATFORM

In light of the requirements of the digital era, the global shift to a knowledge-based economy and UNESCO's role in promoting the culture and practices of Lifelong Learning, and in response to the COVID-19 pandemic and the resulting transition to digital learning, the UNESCO Regional Bureau for Education in the Arab States has developed an online training platform entitled "Kodrat". The platform aims to build the capacities of teachers, education practitioners and decision makers in the region, and it provides free self-learning-based training courses in various educational fields, the first of which will be on basic and advanced distance learning skills.

OBJECTIVES

- Promoting Lifelong Learning opportunities to all, including teachers, researchers and learners.
- Building teachers' digital capacities in the Arab region.
- Exchanging culture and knowledge through an Arab digital educational community.
- Supporting teachers in the Arab region to acquire distance learning skills, strategies and methods.
- Promoting digitization in the field of education in the Arab region.

CONTENTS

Free and varied specialization courses based on self-learning and asynchronous remote training, which can be completed at trainees' own pace.

Numerous training courses, each of which contains various modules encompassing training videos, various presentations, infographics, interactive practical exercises, articles, and enriching documents, in addition to pre- and post-assessments to assess the progress of the trainees.

Printable and shareable Certificates of Completion.

TARGET AUDIENCE

Teachers

Education Practitioners

Education decision-makers

